North Dakota Junior Beef Expo set, entry deadline approaches
North Dakota Stockmen's Association calls for entries

The North Dakota Stockmen's Association is calling for entries to participate in the 16th anniversary North Dakota Junior Beef Expo (NDJBE), June 26-27, at the Upper Missouri Valley Fairgrounds in Williston.

The multi-breed, two-day junior field day combines educational seminars, fun activities, great food and competition for the region's top animals and best showmen, ages 21 years and younger. And, in honor of the show's 16th year, expo officials are sweetening the deal by awarding an additional $1,000 in show premiums, as well as supreme heifer honors to the top five placers.

The NDJBE includes several breed association junior field days, and follows the Western Star Regional Junior Heifer Classic (WSRJHC) on June 25 – 26. Both the NDJBE and the WSRJHC are sanctioned events of the North Dakota Junior Point Show Association.

For more information, contact the NDJBE show coordinator Tracey Koester at (701) 223-2522 or tkoester@ndstockmen.org. NDJBE entry forms are available at www.ndstockmen.org, and are due June 1.
